FACE VALUE OF CHECKS TO BE KEPT IN PRISON.

Must Be Paid By Coal Company--Deduction of 10 Per Cent To Miners Usurious.

The Court of Appeals recently decided a case of great importance to miners and mine owners. The case was Kentucky Coal Mining Company against Ben Mattingly, from Union county. The coal company issued aluminous checks to the miners in advance of pay-days but deducted 10 per cent of their wages when they came to settle on pay day, for the favor of advancing them the substitute for money.

Mattingly had accumulated over $200 worth of these checks and asked the coal company to redeem the checks at their face value instead of deducting the 10 per cent. The company refused and he brought suit to compel it to redeem them at their face value. The court here says: "The company did not lend its men money. It's lending its credit to them until next pay day in consideration of a deduction of 10 per cent from their wages, was a contract the law will not sanction or enforce. If such contracts were upheld, our usury laws would be vain and useless." The judgment of the lower court directing the coal company to pay the face value of the checks is affirmed.

Campbell is a pastor of the Christian Church and admitted to the police his love for the girl, which took him from his wife and son in Kentucky.

"IT IS THE WILL OF ALLAH"

Said the Deposed Sultan--Mehmed V. Promises to Put An End to Tyranny and Oppression in His Domain.

Constantinople, April 28.—The reign of the "Red Sultan" is ended. Abdul Hamid II. has been deposed, giving way on the throne to Mehmed Reschad Efendi, who begins his reign as Mehmed V., a variation of Mahomet, it being considered inappropriate to assume the precise name of the prophet. Mehmed V. is the thirty-fifth sovereign of Turkey in male descent of the house of Osman, the founder of the empire, and the twenty-ninth Sultan since the conquest of Constantinople.

The two Houses of Parliament, meeting as a national assembly, approved the decree of deposition. The document recites that Abdul Hamid's acts were contrary to the sacred law and set forth a long list of crimes. The newly chosen ruler took the oath at the War Office. He then proceeded to the Parliament and later went to the Dolma Bagtche Palace as head of the Empire, where for so many years he had practically been in prison.

Martial law was relaxed Tuesday and the people gave them selves over to celebrating the victory of the Young Turks party and the end of Abdul Hamid's reign.

The Sheikh-ul-Islam issued the fetva as the decree of deposition is called. It informed Mehmed Reschad Efendi that he was chosen Sultan by the will of the church, by the will of the Parliament, the will of the army and the will of the people. It admonished him to serve God and keep the sacred law as communicated by the prophet. This Reschad humbly promised to do.

The Sheikh-ul-Islam personally visited the Sultan and informed His Majesty that the question having been put in canonical form before the Sheikh and his associates as to whether Abdul Hamid had not forfeited the right to rule over the faithful, they had decided "Yes."

Abdul bowed his head, saying: "It is the will of Allah." The decree declared that Abdul Hamid II. must abdicate or be de-throned.

The assembly unhesitatingly shouted: "Dethrone him!"

Allison King 3678, will make the season of 1909 at Emerald Chief Stock Farm. $20 to insure.

He is by the noted Wilson's King 2196, 1st dam by Barton Wilkes, he by Gov. Wilkes, he by George Wilkes. The dam of Gov. Wilkes was Daisy Burns, an undefeated show mare by Indian Chief, 1718. 2d dam by Ericsson, that held for 20 years the 4-yr-old record over the Louisville track. 3rd dam by Hooten, by Benton's Diomedes. Allison King has the trot and action these blood lines indicate. Glorious Red Cloud, Golden King and Allison King rank first among the sons of King for action and speed. He is a graduate in harness in the circuit including Falmouth, Germantown, Maysville, Ewing and Ripley, Ohio. His trot is wonderfully high, with great fold of knee and in line, no forging or paddling. He has saddle type and is in training this season for the circuit in saddle classes. His rack is as sensational as his trot. The Emerald Chief Stock Farm is proud to offer the services of this grand horse owned by Mr. Wm. McCann, of Tilton, Ky., and ask a liberal patronage for him. He is a King, chestnut in color, and of beautiful type.

The meeting of the Board of Education was very important. The report of the census taker for the whites, showed 1,057 number of pupils of school age in the city, a falling off of 40. The colored census has not been finished. Two sets of maps for teaching Physical and Political Geography were ordered. All old teachers were re-elected and two new teachers.

W. T. Ogden.

This paper does not mix in Democratic primaries. Mr. Ogden and Mr. Hunter are fine gentlemen and personal friends of the editor. Mr. Hunter has convictions equally decided.

The temperance question is the live wire in Kentucky politics and applies to one party as well as the other. No candidate can dodge it.

To say that the temperance question is a moral one, and is not political, is fine in theory, but in practice, where moral and economic questions are to be settled by the lawmakers, the people will make it a question in spite of the politicians.

The stallion show came to an abrupt end. James T. Wade and a colored man who was showing the speed of their horses, ran together, in opposite directions. Both were thrown to the ground. The negro's cart was demolished and horse badly crippled. The wheel of Mr. Wade's cart was broken and the axle broke, but horse was not hurt. Other horse owners took their stallions in.

Gov. Willson, in pardoning W. S. Taylor and others, has done no more than was his duty. The prosecution in the last trial of Powers fell down completely. There never would have been another trial. Some will criticize him because they honestly believe that the parties were guilty. Politicians will use it to accomplish political ends, but we are confident that a large majority of the people will approve of what has been done. Taking the matter as a whole, neither party can look back at what occurred at and following the election of 1899 with any degree of pride.

One of the most horrible crimes in the history of Winchester was committed Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock when Miss Jessie Turner, youngest daughter of Mrs. Amanda Turner, was seized by two unknown men and an assault was attempted. Mrs. Turner with her four single daughters live on Winn Avenue. In the rear of the house is a long flight of steps. She had gone down a few steps when she was suddenly seized by two men. They carried her about 100 yards in the rear of the stock pens. Her screams attracted the attention of two boys on their way to town. They went with Will Ball and Robert Scobee went to where the screams came from. They found Miss Turner with her hands and feet tied and a rope around her neck. Most of her clothes were torn from her and a part of her shirt waist was wrapped around her head and face. (See later report in another column.)

The jury in the $10,000 damage case of engineer F. L. Burns, of Lexington, against the Clark County Construction Company, returned a verdict for $3,250 in favor of the plaintiff. This is the second trial. The first jury gave $5,000. Judge Benton directed a verdict for the plaintiff, but left the amount to be determined by the jury.

Save Your Fowls.

Mrs. J. D. Cox, Lawrenceburg, Ky., the noted breeder of Mammoth Bronze turkeys, says: "Last September Mrs. R. B. Swasey called me over the telephone and told me that her turkeys were all sick and several of them down and unable to travel. She said she believed she was going to lose the whole flock and asked me if I could do anything for them. I sent her a fifty-cent bottle of BOURBON POLTRY CURE and told her how to use it. She never lost a single turkey and they were all sound and well in a week's time. I have been raising fancy poultry for fifteen years and had this remedy the best I ever used. I have a hundred turkeys and I give them BOURBON POLTRY CURE twice a week and never think of such a thing as having a sick fowl."

Ex-Senator, Jas. B. McCreary, declines to make race for Governor on Democratic ticket. He is wise, if he thinks that trees are to be voted against him.

We record some facts which we deeply regret; yet they serve as a warning, an admonition or incentive to nobler living. There are dark phases of life. Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.

The Attorney General prosecuting the alleged Tennessee night riders at Waverly received two letters declaring that he must cease his activity or die. Of course he will continue to prosecute the outlaws. Duty to one's country, even if it brings death, is preferable to a disgraceful intimidation.

DIDN'T FOOL US.

Gov. Willson has done what we said he would do, pardon the whole lot of the Goebel assassins, save only Youtsey, the only man of the whole gang who told the truth about the whole business. Those who call themselves Democrats and who elected Willson can now go out into a quiet fence corner and kick themselves good.—Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.

In this issue is an article on how "To Live 1,000 Years." We do not advise you to strictly follow his rule, yet there are valuable suggestions for meditation. Were we to ask, "Do you want to live a thousand years?" you would be apt to say: That depends upon ——. It may be thirty, sixty or possibly a hundred years of earth life about which we are deeply concerned, while the eternal life is a matter of little concern.

STATE TO AID.

Governor Shafroth, of Colorado, has signed the campaign expense bill passed by the recent Legislature and the unique measure becomes a law in 90 days. It provides that the State shall contribute for campaign expenses every two years 25 cents for each vote cast at the preceding general election, the sum to be divided among the political parties according to the vote cast for their candidates for Governor.

NEW DEPOT.

We wish publicly to thank the C. & O. officials for their decision to erect a new depot in our city. They know better than other people the importance of our city as a shipping point and a traveling center, and will, we trust, erect a building so commodious, convenient and artistic, that our people as well as themselves will be proud of it. Strangers passing through or coming to our town would be favorably impressed with such a structure. How charming would be a little flour garden on their corner lot now occupied by the dilapidated blacksmith shop and enclosed on Maysville St. by the bill board fence. This transformation could be effected at small cost, and will add much to the attractiveness of their property.

WALTER CROOKS.

Walter Crooks wants to be Sheriff of this county, and today so announces in this paper. If the voters of the county elect him, he begins his term with the acquaintance with people, knowledge of and practice in the duties attending 4 years of service as a deputy under Sheriff Prewitt.

According to our opinion and knowledge of him, he is courteous, competent, industrious, sober and discreet. He is unmarried and good looking; probably he can't help that, but that fact should not bar his acceptance, especially as our people have become accustomed to this kind. Association has much to do with what we are. We are pleased to present him. At present he announces as one of his deputies Mr. Neal Guilfoile.

DANGER AHEAD.

The withdrawal of many candidates from the Democratic primary in Fayette county leads the public to believe that in the planning for the primary undue influence have been used which do not give a "square deal," to the candidates in the appointment of election officers.

The conclusion is that honest and truthful men have not been appointed to conduct the election, and that if necessary sufficient votes will be stolen or rejected to give machine candidates the nominations irrespective of the number of votes cast. Such procedure should bring defeat to men who will resort to such methods and will wreck any party which practices it. Honesty in a political race is as important as in commercial affairs.

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McKelley, of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by R. H. White & Co., Druggist. 43-44.

EGG EATERS.

How to Break Chickens of This Habit.

Habit Spreads Rapidly in Flocks Unless Promptly Checked.

With an experience of several years as a poultry breeder, I have discovered numerous faults and vices in chickens.

The worst-eating habit is one of the egg-eating that can ever creep into a flock of fowls, and when once started in a flock spreads so quickly from fowl to fowl that measures must be prompt and effective or a great loss of profit will be sustained, and more especially so if occurring during the breeding season.

The most important causes which lead to egg eating are, excluding soft-shelled eggs, the dropping of an egg or eggs in the run and the hens picking at them; the breaking of an egg in the nest or an egg being left to freeze or burst.

HOW HABIT IS FORMED.

Whether it is natural or not for some hens to eat eggs I cannot say. The habit once formed may be broken up. We take a case which we know. Some few years ago there were eighty-five white Plymouth Rock hens or pullets running on free range and were housed in a large building with tight nest attached on the outside of building and on the ground with openings leading into each nest separately. As these nests were convenient to set hens in, several were used for this purpose. But when the setting hen and her brood were removed all the egg pippings were not removed, which started the hens to scratch in new material, accidentally breaking some eggs, which were quickly eaten. The damage had been done, and the entire flock were soon developed into egg-eaters.

So anxious were those hens in their desire for eggs that the egg yield soon dropped below one dozen a day, and when one of them would go in to lay the hen would stand around the door waiting, and some more impatient than the rest would crowd under the layer looking for the egg, and if it was there would drive their beak into it. These nests were closed and dark nests tried, but with no avail. Then the following was adopted:

A box 10 inches wide, 14 long and 5 high was made. Over the top of this was tacked a piece of burlap, allowing it to slope nicely all around toward the center, where I cut an opening large enough for an egg to roll through, and under this I placed a board well padded with burlap diagonally from the upper back end to the lower front end. Thus when the egg rolled

PLAN PREVENTS EGG EATING.

The board is not nailed on tight, but with one nail on each side, so it works on a hinge to permit raising the box to get the egg. Over this box was set and slightly tacked another of same size. Then the box was set in suitable place for hens to lay in. You can see at a glance that the nest prevented egg eating, as the egg disappeared immediately when excluded.

As to feather eating. This habit is most generally formed when the birds are growing chicks, getting their plumage. As they moult two sets of feathers before they have their permanent plumage there is a continual exposure of tender pin feathers, which are broken and rendered bloody with the slightest damage. Lice on growing chicks causes them to tear and break their own plumage. Overcrowding the growing stock and not letting them out until late in the morning, thus causing them to pick at each other for the want of something else to do is also the cause of this bad habit.—Lexington Herald.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. It cured me permanently."—Hon. John R. Garrett, Mayor, Girard, Ala. 43-47

National Conversations.

If you see three men standing together on the sidewalk in any given country, you state the subject of their conversation. In Germany it is the army; in Russia the bureaucracy; in France, women; in the United States, business; in England, sport, and in Turkey, nothing at all.—La Derriere Heure, Brussels.

ECZEMA IS NOW CURABLE.

ZEMO, a scientific preparation for external use, stops itching instantly and destroys the germs that cause skin diseases. Eczema quickly yields and is permanently cured by this remarkable medicine.

JONES PUT UP A SUBSTITUTE.

And incidentally got Reputation as After-Dinner Speaker.

"If there is one thing I hate," remarked Mr. Jones, "it is after-dinner speeches. Well, once I found myself at a big banquet, where I knew very few of those present. To my amazement, and horror, toward the end of the festivities, the toastmaster fixed his eyes upon me.

"We have with us tonight," I heard the old, hoarse formula roll out unctuously from his lips—and then my own name—Mr. Jones, the well-known," etc.

"The toastmaster concluded, but I made no move to get on my feet. I felt paralyzed; my tongue was seeking to climb through the roof of my mouth.

"And then the guests, from all sides, began yelling: 'Yes, Jones, Jones!' which is Jones?—where is Jones?"

"A brilliant idea came to me. At this close beside me was a little man who dearly loved speechifying. Like a flash I jumped to my feet, Jones? 'Yes, here is Jones!'"

"I cried, and I charged the little demagogue on the shoulder. Then I yanked him on the nose, murmuring in an ominous sotto voce: 'Don't give me away, speak now!'"

"He spoke. And in the guise of myself, he made a most successful little oration. There was loud applause and much shouting of 'What's the matter with Jones? He's all right!'"

"As for me, I slipped away and gradually recovered from the nervous shock occasioned by my narrow escape from being eloquent."

YOUTHFUL MIND IN DISTRESS.

Awful Possibility That Loomed Before Six-Year-Old Jackie.

Six-year-old Jackie's mother believed that absolute truthfulness was the only rock on which to build that youthful gentleman's character, and the consistent working out of this principle did away, of course, with belief in all such things as fairies, Santa Claus, and other illusions dear to childish hearts, and they became instead "make-believe" games. Santa Claus in particular being a pet "joke" between his mother and himself.

Jackie came in from play one afternoon much excited and concerned. "Mother, Jimmie Norton believes there is a really and truly Santa Claus. He says he is sure that Santa Claus does come to him to bring him what he wants. He wouldn't believe me at all when I told him it was just a joke," with rising anxiety.

Jackie's mother was somewhat non-plussed. "Well, son," she temporized, "perhaps Jimmie's mother will tell him the joke some time soon, and then—"

"Oh, I hope she will," broke in Jackie, forgetting his manners in his earnestness, "because, you know, if she don't, when Jimmie has little boys of his own they won't ever get any Christmas presents."

About Haggings. There is no more beneficial tonic than good, hearty laughter. It inflates the lungs and has a magic effect on the system. Giggling is not laughing, and it is a habit that brings wrinkles and soon spoils even a pretty face. Why not laugh? It improves the complexion and makes one popular. There is nothing to be glum over, and, if there is, being glum will not help it. Be happy and bright and everyone will wish to help you. The girl who wants to be beautiful must sleep with fresh air, plenty of it, in her room. She must go out and revel in the sunshine. She must find plenty of laughter in her daily life. This is the only true way to live and the only way capable of bringing beauty.

Poetical Epitaph.

The epitaph collector displayed enthusiastically the photograph of a soldier, and states the subject of their conversation. In Germany it is the army; in Russia the bureaucracy; in France, women; in the United States, business; in England, sport, and in Turkey, nothing at all.—La Derriere Heure, Brussels.

The epitaph upon the tomb was as follows:

"White Man, Greeting! We, near whose bones you stand, were Ironists. 'The wide land which is now yours was ours.'"

"Friendly hands have given back to us enough for a tomb."

Legal Amities.

Several decades ago there lived in Charleston, W. Va., a judge noted for his boorish manners. A very financial lawyer who he especially disliked was once trying a case before him, and all the while the barrister spoke the judge sat with his feet elevated on the railing in front of him hiding his face.

Exasperated by this the lawyer queried: "May I ask which end of your honor I am to address?"

"Whichever you choose," drawled the judge.

"This does not look to me like Venice," said the first. "I do not see a single gondola."

"No," admitted her companion, "but it must be Venice. You know we were to be in Venice on Wednesday."—Harpers Magazine.

THE FIRST TIME ON RECORD.

Delayed Reformation in the Case of Sam Doolittle.

One of the easiest-going, most shiftless individuals that ever drifted through life, too lazy to travel any way except with the current, was Sam Doolittle. Sam was born tired and never outgrew it. Being behindhand was a chronic complaint with him, and it finally got to that nobody really expected anything else of him.

In the course of time Sam died. The funeral arrangements had been made and the announcement sent out, when, owing to other engagements, was his delaying ceremony, it was found necessary to change the time to an hour ahead, and as a consequence the body reached the cemetery considerably earlier than the original schedule had contemplated.

When the procession entered the gate and halted, the old gravedigger, who had not been notified of the change of time, dropped his spade in surprise and asked:

"Is that Sam Doolittle you've got there?"

"Upon my assured that it was, he said his head was buried in the ground. 'Well, if that is Sam Doolittle he must have turned over a new leaf all of a sudden. I've known him, boy, for over fifty years, and this is the first trip he ever took that I knew him to get started ahead of time!'"

EMANATION FROM PRINTER'S INK.

Peculiar Property Found to Affect a Photographic Plate.

That printer's ink gives off an emanation that passes through opaque bodies and affects a photographic plate has been discovered by a German investigator. Photographic roll film is sometimes thus affected, through its celluloid cover, by the printed characters on the paper in which it is wrapped. The emanation is found to proceed from the oil in the ink during the drying process. It is not precisely the same as the emanation from radium and other radioactive substances, for, unlike them, it changes gum arabic into a granular mass. The emanation is a gas, and is produced on the gum of envelope flaps by the printed characters on the envelopes that first attracted the investigator's attention. The emanations are reflected by metal mirrors in the same way as light, and they oxidize metal surfaces against which they strike. The exposure necessary to give a sensitive plate is eight to ten days.

Prompt Delivery.

It is related on good authority of a well-known poet that once he walked into the sanctum of a magazine editor. The editor, after a moment's pause, which was promptly rejected. The editor endeavored to cheer up the crestfallen bard.

"Try some articles," he suggested, "there's money in them."

"I couldn't do sensible articles," cried the son of Parnassus indignantly. "I've written a lot of them the way," he immediately added, "that's a good starter for a poem. Here, let me read."

"Golden me! Romance! For me the Golden Me!"

In a few minutes the new poem was read out on the back of the discarded one. In a few minutes more it was accepted.

"Thirteen" and a "Bit."

A "thirteen" in money was a small coin in circulation in Ireland in the early part of the nineteenth century, equivalent in value to thirteen pence, and was known locally as a "thirteen." A "bit" in money means any small coin, as a ten-penny bit, a six-penny bit, etc. Specie money is a small of a small West Indian coin, worth about ten cents. In parts of the United States there was formerly current a small coin called in some states a Mexican shilling), and this was valued at 12 1/2 cents, and this was called a "bit." In the Canadian West a "bit" is worth 15 cents, and 25 cents represents "two bits."

Nature Study.

Nature study is teaching the youth to see and to know the things nearest to hand, to the end that his life may be fuller and richer, writes Prof. L. H. Bailey of Cornell university. Nature study is not to be taught for the purpose of making the youth a specialist or a scientist. Now and then a pupil will desire to pursue a science for the sake of the science, and he should be encouraged. But every pupil may be taught to be interested in plants and birds and insects and running brooks, and thereby his life will be the stronger. The crop of scientists will take care of itself.

Comprehensive Recipe.

Leech, the famous artist of London, was at his best as an entertainer in his own house. Beane Hoar, of Cornell university, has given him a delectable dinner at his lodgings in Scarborough, how he made such good champagne-cup. "The ingredients," he replied, "of which this refreshing beverage is composed, and which is highly recommended by the faculty for officers going abroad and after persons stopping at home, are champagne, ice and aerated water; but, in consequence of advancing years, always forget the saltzer."

Acquiring a Reputation.

"How did that man get the reputation of being such a profound thinker?" "By talking on subjects that nobody would care to hear about, and by the chance of having his arguments definitely refuted."

IS PERFECT FENCING MATERIAL.

Species of Cacti Form Hedges Practically Impenetrable.

The hedges which we ordinarily see bordering country estates are planted for their ornamental and beautifying effect, and not as a substitute for fencing material. In the extreme south-western part of the United States there are many hedges which serve primarily this latter purpose. Various species of cacti, such as the prickly pear, are used by ranchmen to inclose cattle ranges in those arid regions, and these hedges are practically impenetrable. The cacti are thus effectively prevented from attacking the herds and flocks, and a supply of fodder may always be obtained by burning off the spines from the tender young shoots of the cactus.

Remains of hedges 15 feet in height are to be seen near the beach of the old missions in southern California, where they once served as fortifications to protect the little settlements. Indeed, for once the Mexicans use what is known as the organ cactus. When stakes of this plant are set in the earth they readily take root, and soon present a formidable barrier of thorns.—Harper's Weekly.

INSPIRATION WAS HAPPY ONE.

Good Idea That Rescued Student from a Serious Dilemma.

A student in one of the theological colleges found himself face to face with an examination in Old Testament history—a subject which he had entirely ignored all term. Taking counsel with some friends, he decided that all he really needed to know was the long list of the names of the kings of Israel and their dates. So he crammed them each and all into his bursting head. But, sad to relate, all he was asked to do was to criticize the reign of Manasse. Not one act of Manasse, good, bad, or indifferent, could the unfortunate youth remember, so the unfortunate teacher, he wrote as follows:

"Far be it for one as humble as I am to criticize the acts of the great Manasse; but, if you would care to know the names of the kings of Israel and their dates, you will find them written below."

He was passed.

As to the Lungs.

The lungs are not an ordinary malady can kill him. I know an old chap who was over seventy years of age and had been a doctor for thirty years. He was still in the ring, while three of the doctors have cashed in their checks. A man can live 40 years without food, a few days without water, and a few minutes without air. The lungs are the soul. A man can live without stomach, bowels, heart, liver, kidneys, spleen, etc., but he cannot live without air. The air cleans the blood. Drink air by the million cubic feet and you will never die. Don't wait for the doctor to come along. Drink deeply of the common ether. Have it pure and plug yourself full every hour.

Medicine in the Sea.

The sea, according to certain scientists, can furnish not only nourishment, but medicine. A distinguished French practitioner prescribes the drinking of sea water as a cure for diabetes, the water being aerated in order to remove impurities and, to some extent, its nauseous flavor. It has also been administered with success in cases of bronchitis and pleurisy. Experiments on consumptive patients show that subcutaneous injections of sea water are beneficial, all events in the early stages of tuberculosis. Sea water made with sea water is said by those who have tried it to be most appetizing and nourishing.

Find Happiness in Children.

Very domestic is the life of the Belgians, and the children enter into every sort of interest of the parents. They would not think of going to the restaurant or summer garden without the children, and their own pleasures are often but the reflected ones of their boys and girls. The father goes to the circus with his little troupe of young folks about him and enjoys their joys. The happiness of the people is centered in their homes, and anything that would interfere with the good of the child is not tolerated by the self-respecting Belgians.

Indian Baskets Told Stories.

The making of Indian baskets is the work of the women of the tribe. Unhoused and unused, unknown even to the Indians, the baskets tell the story of the Indian woman's life. The Indian woman basket maker passes to her grave, leaving behind her a chain of woven bowls, each a volume in itself. The able basket maker puts into every piece of work she turns out as much of the history of her race as she knows and all of her own life, if she can express it in the pictures and figures which have been handed down to her since basketry began.—The Bohemian.

Oddity of Dreams.

"Nobody ever feels pain in a dream," said a psychologist. "Rage, terror, joy, grief—these emotions stand as poignantly in the dream as in reality. But physical pain, no. I have interrogated 2,000 persons, and none of them ever dreamed of painful pain. Yet I have dreamed of dreadful moral accidents, tortures, death. One young girl, indeed, dreamed time and again of being burned in the dream, and even in that horrible nightmare she felt no pain."

RELIGIOUS

Sunday will be observed at the Methodist church as "Mothers' Day." Everyone is requested to wear a white flower as a visible tribute to the purity of mother love. The services will be given entirely to celebrate the mother love. There will be appropriate and special music and decorations. Every one who has a mother or who has had a mother is invited to be present.

On account of water in the basement the Baptist church could not be used on Sunday morning. As Rev. H. D. Clark was in Winchester, the congregation of the Christian church were pleased to extend to the Baptists their pulpit. Rev. Smalley, a young man of Louisville, was their visiting preacher. He made a favorable impression. After the sermon the usual communion service was held.

A Baltimore dispatch on April 26 states that the congregation of Brantly Baptist Church, one of the largest churches of that denomination in Baltimore, decided to call as its pastor Rev. Henry M. Wharton. Dr. Wharton was the founder of Brantly Church and served as its pastor fifteen years ago. Our town people have pleasant memories of Rev. Wharton since he conducted a revival here last year.

Whisky and Revenue.

A temperance lady writes us from an Indiana city which has recently been voted dry, asking us to write something of the result of prohibition in this city. The whisky people of that city seem to be very much exercised because the city is to lose the "revenue" derived from saloon license. Of course their anxiety is purely unselfish. They don't care anything about their own "revenue." For the purpose of setting at rest the minds of these public-spirited citizens let us say that this city has been for over 22 years without a cent of revenue from saloon license, and her finances were never in a better condition. She has built a city hall, bought and maintained a good fire department, kept up her streets and grown to almost double the population and more than twice the wealth of the saloon period. And the surrounding country has kept pace with the city. There have been four banks established in villages in the in the county where they formerly had barrooms in which to deposit their savings, and the people and not the tavern-keepers own those banks. Farms are better tilled, homes are better furnished, crime has decreased so that the office of Jailor is the least lucrative of any in the county. We might go on and give other good results, but we think these should be sufficient to convince any "doubting Thomases" that a city or county does not thrive on revenue from saloons, but on the other hand the people do thrive by reason of their abolition.—Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.

A Wonderful Colt.

Elisha S. Fitch, of Flemingsburg, owner of the mare, Belle Queen 5570, A. S. H. R., has sold a filly colt, foaled May 1, out of this mare, by Golden King, for $1,000. When the deal was consummated he reserved the right not to accept any until the colt came, as there was some doubt in his mind as to whether the colt would be sound on account of such intense inbreeding. On Saturday morning he left home with the mare, reached Emerald Chief Stock Farm at supper time, and during the night she foaled a filly colt 3 feet 5½ inches high, perfect in every particular and pronounced by Mr. Johnson and others to be the finest ever foaled on the farm. This colt traces 4 times to Harrison Chief and 5 times to Indian Chief, and the mare is left at the farm to be bred back to Golden King. He also brought with him the mare, Omega, by Old Indian Chief, she being 31 years old and owned by M. S. McKee, of Cynthia. This mare is farmed by Jno. W. Fitch & Son, of Flemingsburg. W. H. Northcutt, of Cynthia, and the Powhatan Stock Farm, to be bred to Golden, and they have secured the services of Mr. Shultz, a great expert of the State at breeding old and barren mares, and they have gone to get from this mare a colt, she being the only descendant of Old Indian Chief.

Scarcity of Humor.

It is to be feared that if the papers reserved a special corner once each week for the witicism of the week, it would be often left blank. There is no wit to speak of to-day, only a feeble imitation of it which people are fond of calling the saving sense of a humor.—London Saturday Review.

GREAT STORM.

Many People Killed, Much Property Destroyed and Great Damage To Farm Lands.

A great storm of wind, hail and rain prevailed over Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Arkansas and other States on Thursday night and Friday. Many lives were lost, especially in Tennessee and Georgia. Rain and wind in Kentucky, especially Central Kentucky, did much damage, destroying barns, unroofing houses, blowing down trees and washing away tobacco beds, etc. In Lexington 31 inches rain fell in 18 hours. A record breaker for April. In this city 7.69 inches. 1 tenth of an inch is 4 hogsheads per acre, or 1 in. is 40 hds. and 7.69 in. is 307.6 hds. of water per acre. In this county barns belonging to David Howell, Tom Kerns, Mrs. Morris and others were damaged or wrecked. An elm at J. G. Trimble's place was uprooted. Hinkston creek was higher than for many years. Many forests and fruit trees were ruined, and plowed lands suffered greatly.

Good Way To Do Business.
In ordering a 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at 25c, W. S. Lloyd is giving one of the greatest trade chances ever offered to the people of Mt. Sterling.
If food does not digest well, if there is gas or pain in the stomach, if the tongue is coated and the breath bad, if there is constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not you have druggist W. S. Lloyd's personal guarantee to return your money.
This remarkable remedy comes in the form of tiny granules, and can be carried in the vest pocket or purse. It is very popular in New York City, and it is not unusual to see someone after a meal at one of the large hotels or restaurants, take a dose of this specific, knowing that it will prevent the uncomfortable feeling which frequently follows a hearty meal.
Dr. Howard's specific gives quick relief and makes permanent cures of constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles. 41&43.

Newspaper Work as a Profession.
Jonett Shouse, general manager of the Kentucky Evening Gazette, Lexington, delivered the address at the chapel at Transylvania, taking for his subject, "Newspaper Work as a Profession."
"I could not advise any young man to take up the newspaper business as a profession," said the speaker, "for the same amount of ability and work put into other professions would yield much larger returns. The reporter and editor alike are unknown to the general public. He does not derive the personal benefit from his profession he deserves."
The speaker said that the possibilities of the newspaper profession were unlimited for doing good. "The average paper simply reflects the moral condition of the community. The people make the paper. But the editor or reporter can give an accurate representation of conditions."
Mr. Shouse said that the newspaper profession broadens a man and makes him a part of a greater humanity. Furthermore, he does not serve as merely a blackboard to chronicle the events of the day, but must be a prophet as well, forecasting the doings of tomorrow.
"Young men, when you go out into life, do not forget that your own State Kentucky needs you. Put our own Kentucky in the forefront of the States of this union."

MR. JOHN KINNEY A Prominent Indianapolis Lawyer, Says, "After Grippe Take Vinol. It Built Me up and Made Me Feel Strong."

"The grippe left me in a nervous, weakened, run-down condition. Nothing seemed to restore my strength. At last I tried Vinol with the very best of results. It built me up and made me feel like a different man, and I am now better and stronger than I have been for years." John Kinney, Indianapolis, Ind.
This is because Vinol is a genuine tonic and body builder which contains peptonate of iron together with every one of the body-building medicinal elements of cod liver oil, without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. Vinol acts directly on the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, and enables the digestive organs to obtain the necessary elements from the food eaten to make rich, red blood, healthy flesh and muscle tissue and create strength.
Your money back if Vinol fails to benefit. W. S. Lloyd, Druggist, Mt. Sterling.

Chilliothe "Wet"—"Drys"
Beaten By 2,000.
In a local option election characterized by disorderly scenes throughout the day, at times bordering on rioting, Ross county, Ohio, on Wednesday voted "wet" by a majority estimated at 2,000. The city of Chilliothe gave a wet majority of approximately 1,800 and the county outside was carried by a small majority.
The fight was the hottest ever witnessed in Ross county. The election was held under the Ross county law.
Mayor Yapple and the city Administration led the "wet" forces, while the campaign of the "drys" was conducted by many persons prominent in the anti-saloon cause, aided by local ministers and others.
During the day numerous conflicts occurred between the two factions. To restore order Com. H. Ohio National Guards, was called out.

CANDIDATES WITHDRAW And May Form Coalition Ticket With Republicans.

A sensation was caused in political circles in Lexington on Wednesday by Judge Watts Parker, candidate for re-nomination as Circuit Judge; Daniel W. Scott, candidate for Sheriff, and S. J. Moore, candidate for County Assessor, withdrawing their names from before the Democratic primary, apparently by concerted action, and it is understood that they have bolted the primary with the intention of running on a so-called "citizens" ticket, which will be supported by the Republicans.
It had been widely rumored that Judge Parker, W. B. Hawkins, and probably others, who were hopelessly behind in their races, would bolt and the entry of Chas. Foushee, affiliated with the Republicans, for the nomination for Circuit Clerk, indicated very strongly that there was a conspiracy brewing among this group of candidates to bolt the Democratic ticket and form an alliance with the Republicans.
It was expected that the bolt would occur Monday when the names of the election officers were announced. Mr. Hawkins and Foushee, however, were the only ones who withdrew at that time.
As Judge Parker has continuously held the position of Circuit Judge for eighteen years and has always been elected by the Democratic party, it was not believed that he would bolt a Democratic primary from which he had so many times been a beneficiary. His withdrawal caused much surprise. The Republicans will, it is said, soon put up a ticket with Parker for Circuit Judge, Scott for Sheriff, Foushee for County Clerk, Hawkins for County Judge, Moore for Assessor and the other places in the ticket made up of Republicans.

Try The Money-Back Cure For Indigestion.
Nine times in ten stomach derangements are responsible for sallow complexion, dull eyes and thin body.
It is the stomach that supplies nourishing blood to the muscles, the nerves, and the skin. If the stomach is healthy, plenty of nourishment matter will be absorbed by the blood. If it is not healthy, the food will ferment, and undigested, will pass along through the bowels, furnishing so little nutritious matter that the blood becomes impoverished, and the glow of health vanishes.
If you suffer from nervousness, sick headache, belching of gas, sour taste in the mouth, heartiness after eating, or any other miserable stomach disturbance, you need MIO-NA, and the sooner you get it the quicker you will be healthier and happier.
It will relieve any distressed stomach condition almost immediately. It will cure if used according to directions. W. S. Lloyd sells it for 50 cents a large box, and he thinks enough of it to guarantee it to cure indigestion. 43&45.

SOMETHING TO FALL BACK ON.
Thoughtful Wife Had Provided Husband with a Sample.
He stood irresolutely in front of the woman's stocking counter for a few minutes, then with a determined expression on his face he elbowed his way through the two women shoppers and accented the salutation.
"Have you any light blue stockings?" he said; "you see I—"
"Gentle furnishings, third counter to the left," said the girl, as she reached for a box on the upper shelf.
"No, I don't want them for myself," said the man, getting red. "My wife is in the country and she wants me to see two pair of light blue stockings for her."
"Oh, what size?" asked the girl, with a foolish smile.
"Well, that's what I have been trying to figure out," confessed the man, growing nervous. "Don't they all come about the same size? You see, she told me she didn't have to do it."
"Oh, no; they run in half sizes, from 6 to 14," giggled the girl.
"Huh," said the man; "well, I suppose I shall have to do it." And he reached in his inside pocket and slowly drew out a dainty light blue stocking.
"She gave me this in case I forgot," he said, in confusion.
RESTFUL TO EYES AND NERVES.
Green is One of Nature's Cures for Worry and Fatigue.
"If the whole of London were painted green it would have a wonderful effect upon the health and spirits of its Londoners," said one of the leading specialists to a Mirror writer. "Bright and healthy are most closely connected, and among town dwellers eyesight is steadily deteriorating. Green is one of nature's cures for worry and fatigue. Watch a man who is worrying or tired out and see how often he will wander to a window from which he can gaze on a tree in leaf. Instinctively his eyes seek the green of the foliage. A great deal of the good obtained from a visit to the country is from the incessant gaze of the green fields and green leaves."
"A green room, too, is a splendid thing. I know of a case of a popular actress who could never understand why it was that in a certain room in her house she could always rest so much better than in any other one. She mentioned the fact to me one day, and I pointed out to her that the paper and furniture were entirely green."

See Dictionary and Get Light.
The chap who patronizes cheap restaurants picks up numerous irreducible wrong notions which he persists in repeating to such acquaintances as sit at his feet and swallow his ipse dixits. "Now," he will spout, "everybody knows that 'meat' is vegetable, while 'rabbit' might be either flesh or fowl. So we have Long Island rabbit—a hare; and Long Island rabbit—a fowl. A restaurant man is laid off if he doesn't tell why his delicatessen is called 'Welsh.' There are famous Welsh hares, the finest of which they should be proud to boast, eat, make a Welsh rabbit? Why not a Scotch rabbit? Why not a Texas rabbit? Why not a jack rabbit, the noblest animal of his race? More light, more light! This thing is hazy."
Puzzle for Cupid.
A young man named Jamie had been calling quite often where there were two sisters of nearly the same age. It was a sort of joke to the girls as to which was the attraction, as he invariably asked for both and divided his attention impartially. One evening when he called only one of the girls was at home—by arrangement—but, as usual, he asked her to sing, as they were all fond of music. In a spirit of mischief she sang "Take Me, Jamie, Dear," which left him rather breathless, but smiling. A little later the other sister came in, bright and beaming, and he asked her to sing. She sat down at the piano willingly and sang, "If Jamie Asks Me to Marry Him What Shall I Say?"—Ladies' Home Journal.
Civility of Cornish Folk.
Here let me record how pleasant it is to travel about in the country districts in Cornwall. Few of the people you meet cross your path without passing the time of day. If you ask the way you are invariably answered civilly. You are not told to go straight on and then ask again. No, you are directed with great minuteness of detail as to the proper course you should take. As likely as not, so I have found it, your casually picked up friend will say after an elaborate explanation of the right way that you will never find it alone and set off with you to the point you wish to gain—London Antiquary.

A "Perpetual" Lamp.
The "perpetual lamp" of Prof. Moish is a glass flask of gelatine supporting a column of phosphorescent bacteria. The light is less than that of a candle, but is sufficient for photography, and germinating peas and lentils turn to it as a source of energy. Being without heat rays, it represents the much-sought cold light.

These Punsters!
"Speeder found his garage full of small boys last night, all drunk. They had been inhaling the fumes from his gasoline tank."
"What the doctors call auto-intoxication, eh?"

Heart Weakness
The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.
"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctors said it was incurable. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, three bottles of Dr. Miles' Food, and three bottles of Dr. Miles' Kidney Pills, I am entirely cured, and feel better than I have for five years, and it is all due to these medicines. I want you to know that your medicines saved me. It relieved me from the first dose, and I kept right on till the pain in my chest was gone, and I kept on feeling better and better until I was entirely cured. I feel like a new man."—Balding, Mich.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that he first believes in its benefits. If it fails, he will refund your money.

Barbours English Custom.
Boys in the west of England believe that by squeezing a mole to death between the hands and touching the affected parts with the blood that oozes from the mouth of the dying animal, warts will disappear and will not reappear. The culprits are convinced that moles, worms and other subterranean dwellers have no feelings, and therefore, it is not cruelty to put them to death in this way.
